

Emergency Solutions for Independent People

Medical Alert is the best voice-to-voice medical emergency alert and response pendant for seniors, anywhere.

Powerful. From your shower, your driveway, or even your garden, the Medical Alert pendant puts you in direct, voice-to-voice contact with one of our 24-hour emergency response professionals, a friend or family member you trust, or both. Other medical alert devices force you to scream for help from another room, and pray someone can hear you.

Practical. No bigger than a business card, the Medical Alert pendant is the smallest voice-to-voice emergency alert degice available.

Reliable. To ensure you get the help you need, fast, we provide certified, 24-hour monitoring with all our units. And, unlike the other guys, we handle all the installation and programming.

Water resistant, wall-mounted emergency communicator

This wireless, water-resistant device is designed to mount on a wall. Mount one next to the bedside or next to the shower in the bathroom. This allows you full voice-to-voice communication when an emergency occurs. It's particularly handy if you forget to carry your pendant with you to the bathroom in the middle of the night. It operates on standby for 10 months on four AAA alkaline batteries - and provides over five hours of talk time.

With a standard personal emergency response system, you are limited by the location of the base station because you have to be within "range" to hear the call center talking to you. If you are too far from the base, you cannot hear, or more importantly, tell them what the emergency is!

Medical Alert's base station plugs into any standard telephone jack and will allow you to communicate your message instantly and efficiently from within many hundreds of feet of your base station. The system should cover your average American home and into the front, back and side yards.

2. We call your family or a friend, if you feel ill or just need some help getting up
